

Adnams Pecorino, Terre de Chieti IGT

Country: Italy

Tasting Note:

Straw yellow colour with green reflections. The aroma is unmistakable and immediate, with an intense impression of white-pulped and exotic fruits. The wine is well-balanced and supported by bright acidity. For us, this is sunshine in a glass.

Background Product Information:

Pecorino is not only the name of the famous ewe's milk cheese, but it is a fairly rare grape variety of small production planted in the Abruzzo region in Central Italy. Locals proclaim Pecorino was named after the local sheep that used to graze on the grapes, we think the shape of the grape bunches look reminiscent of a sheep's head. Pecora means sheep in Italian and this punchy little variety is grown at high altitudes in the province of Chieti producing wines with vitality and pizzazz.

Allergen & Dietary Information:

Contains sulphites. This product is suitable for vegans and vegetarians.
