Background Product Information:

With its warm weather and expansive coastline, Chile is perfectly placed for producing fruit-forward Merlot wines. Cool ocean breezes lengthen its ripening, creating deliciously juicy flavours.

Ventisquero Wine Estates own vineyards across all of Chile's main wine producing regions. The team, including chief winemaker Felipe Tosso, and John Duval focus winemaking on sustainability, innovation and passion. Each wine produced is a unique expression of the character of the grape and region.

In the Adnams Countries Range, you will find the familiar flavours of wines you know and love and those you've really got to try. We've searched the world for quality examples of each style, so you can grab a bottle of your go-to or find the perfect introduction.
